Reading Pennsylvania Chooses Public Sector Solutions

Public-Sector Solutions (Falls Church, VA) a provider of Integrated Enterprise Solutions for City and County Government announces a contract to implement city-wide systems and technology that will transform the City of Reading, Pennsylvania's operations into a benchmark model of efficiency. "Reading Pennsylvania demonstrates our ability to provide and implement advanced real world enterprise solutions for medium sized cities," said Ryan Goodine, Sr. Account Executive for Public-Sector Solutions. With this implementation, Reading's services will achieve significant cost savings and greater efficiencies, while enhancing customer and employee satisfaction.

Operational Solutions for Reading

Antiquated Mainframe technology is being replaced by reliable, efficient, and easy to maintain Microsoft SQL servers and Windows 2000 based applications.

Financials and Procurement – implementation of USL Financials, the sophisticated yet easy to use integrated technology that operates hand in hand with MS Office.

Human Resources/Payroll - The homegrown obsolete payroll system will be swapped out for a state-of-the-art system which will integrate HR and Payroll; including modules for benefits, position budgeting, and will be web-enabled for employee access.

Public Works eGovernment Solutions - will be implemented for Fleet Maintenance, Code Enforcement, Licensing & Permits, and Asset Valuation to meet the GASB standards.

Tax Billing – the new systems will conquer Business Privilege Licenses and tax, Earned Income tax, Occupation Privilege tax, and Per Capita and Real Estate taxes.

Reading will no longer have a difficult to maintain, unreliable scattered system with many databases, now there will be only three which will integrate where efficiency suggests. Terminal Server & Citrix technology will web-enable many of the applications for remote access.
